

Evans & De Shazo, Inc. (EDS) is currently seeking FIELD ARCHAEOLOGIST to work on various Cultural Resource Management (CRM) projects throughout Northern California and Western Oregon. The FIELD ARCHAEOLOGIST will assist principal and senior archaeologists with field survey work, excavation, construction monitoring, research, artifact identification, laboratory analysis, and archaeological site recording and monitoring. The position may involve working with diverse teams comprised of archaeologists, construction crews, Native American monitors, and agency personnel, and may also involve work conducted in inclement weather conditions and in rugged terrain.

EDS offers a competitive hourly wage and a friendly work environment and is a growing company with opportunities for permanent employment. EDS is an Equal Opportunity Employer, and we value workplace diversity. All qualified applicants will receive consideration for employment without regard to race, color, national origin, gender, age, religion, mental or physical disability, sexual orientation, veteran, or marital status.
